Introduction

Executive Order (E.O.) 13526 and its implementing directive, 32 C.F.R Part 2001, prescribe a uniform security classification system. This system requires that standard markings be applied to classified information. Except in extraordinary circumstances, or as approved by the Director of the Information Security Oversight Office (ISOO), the marking of classified information shall not deviate from the prescribed formats. Markings shall be uniformly and conspicuously applied to leave no doubt about the classified status of the information, the level of protection required, and the duration of classification. Since a booklet of this size cannot illustrate every conceivable situation, please refer to the implementing directive, other ISOO issuances, and any instructions issued by your organization for further clarification. Consult your security manager if you have any questions.

This booklet is unclassified, and as it is in the public domain, it may be reproduced without permission. All classification markings used are for illustration purposes only. All previous booklets and the guidance contained in them are rescinded.

Reminders

- ❖ Only individuals specifically authorized in writing may classify documents originally.
- ❖ Only individuals with the appropriate security clearance, who are required by their work to restate classified source information, may derivatively classify information.
- ❖ The terms “Top Secret,” “Secret,” and “Confidential” are not to be used to mark executive branch information that has not been properly designated as classified national security information under E.O. 13526.
- ❖ Information shall not be classified for any reason unrelated to the protection of the national security.
- ❖ Classifiers and authorized holders are responsible for ensuring that information is appropriately classified and properly marked.
- ❖ Individuals who believe that information in their possession is inappropriately classified, or inappropriately unclassified, are expected to bring their concerns to the attention of responsible officials.
- ❖ The following markings are not authorized in the “Declassify On” line:
 - “Originating Agency’s Determination Required” or “OADR” for documents created after October 14, 1995;
 - “X1,” “X2,” “X3,” “X4,” “X5,” “X6,” “X7,” or “X8” for documents created after September 22, 2003;
 - “Manual Review” or “MR;”
 - “DNI Only” or “DCI Only;” and
 - “Subject to treaty or international agreement.”
- ❖ The “25X1-human” marking may be used only when a derivative classifier is carrying it forward from a source document.

Section 1: Originally Classified Documents

The following is an example of a document that an original classifier has determined requires protection under E.O. 13526. It contains the primary markings required under the Order, including:

- ❖ Portion markings;
- ❖ Overall classification markings; and
- ❖ Classification authority block consisting of:
 - A “Classified By” line to include the identity, by name and position, or by personal identifier of the original classifier, and if not otherwise evident, the agency and office of origin.
 - The “Reason” for classification as provided in section 1.4 of the Order.
 - A “Declassify On” line which shall indicate one of the following durations of classification:
 - ✓ A date or event for declassification that corresponds to the lapse of the information’s national security sensitivity, which is equal to or less than 10 years from the date of the original decision.
 - ✓ A date not to exceed 25 years from the date of the original decision.
 - ✓ If the classified information should clearly and demonstrably be expected to reveal the identity of a confidential human source or a human intelligence source, no date or event shall be annotated and the marking “50X1-HUM” shall be used.
 - ✓ If the classified information should clearly and demonstrably be expected to reveal key design concepts of weapons of mass destruction, no date or event shall be annotated and the marking “50X2-WMD” shall be used.

NOTE: Ensure the document you create is dated. Having the correct date of origin of the document may be critical when creating other documents using your originally classified document as a source.

NOTE: The date for declassification may be displayed either by spelling out the month (June 27, 2015), or numerically (20150627). When displayed numerically, the following format must be used: YYYYMMDD.

Step 1 – Portion marking

- ❖ Identify the classification level of each portion.
 - A portion is ordinarily defined as a paragraph, but also includes subjects, titles, graphics, tables, charts, bullet statements, sub-paragraphs, classified signature blocks, bullets and other portions within slide presentations, and the like.
 - Portion markings consist of the letters “(U)” for Unclassified, “(C)” for Confidential, “(S)” for Secret, and “(TS)” for Top Secret.
 - The two paragraphs of this sample document contain “Secret” and “Unclassified” information, respectively.
 - The abbreviations, in parentheses, are placed before the portion to which they apply. Portion mark as illustrated in this example.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR

From: John E. Doe, Chief Division 5

Subject: (U) Examples

1. (U) Paragraph 1 contains “Unclassified” information. Therefore, this portion will be marked with the designation “U” in parentheses preceding the portion.

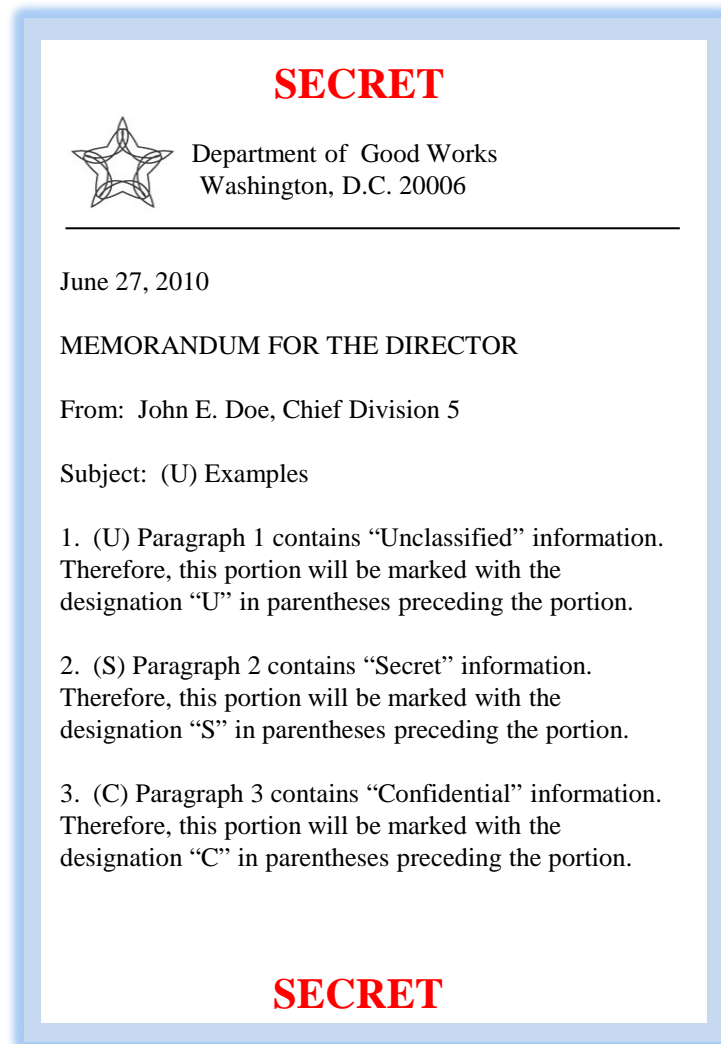

- (S) If all sub-paragraphs are the same classification as the primary paragraph, then you do not need to portion mark the sub-paragraphs.
- (U) However, if the portions are not all the same classification, then all main and sub-paragraphs must be individually marked.

2. (S) Paragraph 2 contains “Secret” information. Therefore, this portion will be marked with the designation “S” in parentheses preceding the portion.

NOTE: Portion marking waivers may be requested by an agency head or senior agency official. Such requests shall be submitted to the Director of ISOO. See 32 C.F.R. Part 2001.24(k) for more information.

Step 2 – Overall classification marking

- ❖ Identify the overall classification of the document. This will be equal to the highest classification level of any one portion found in the document. In this example, the highest classification is “Secret,” found in paragraph 2.
 - Conspicuously place the overall classification at the top and bottom of the page.
 - If the document contains more than one page, place the overall marking at the top and bottom of the outside of the front cover, on the title page, on the first page, and on the outside of the back cover (if any).
 - Mark other internal pages either with the overall classification or with a marking indicating the highest classification level of information contained on that page.

NOTE: Some agencies require additional dissemination and control markings that accompany the overall classification markings. Contact your security manager for agency-specific guidelines.

Step 3 – Classification authority block: “Classified By” line

- ❖ Identify the original classification authority (OCA) by name and position or personal identifier.
 - If the identity of the originating agency or office is not apparent on the face of the document, place it immediately following the name and position or personal identifier provided in the “Classified By” line.

 - (a) military plans, weapons systems, or operations;
 - (b) foreign government information;
 - (c) intelligence activities (including covert action), intelligence sources or methods, or cryptology;

Step 5 – Classification authority block: “Declassify On” line

❖ This indicates the duration of classification. An original classifier must choose one of the following declassification instructions, selecting whenever possible, the declassification instruction that will result in the shortest duration of classification.

✓ A date or event that is less than 10 years from the date of original classification (date of document is July 1, 2010)

Reason: 1.4(a)

Reason: 1.4(a)
Declassify On: 20350701

❖ Exceptions to this sequence:

✓ If the information should clearly and demonstrably be expected to reveal the identity of a confidential human source or a human intelligence source, the duration of classification shall be up to 75 years and shall be designated as 50X1-HUM.

✓ If the information should clearly and demonstrably be expected to reveal key design concepts of weapons of mass destruction, the duration shall be up to 75 years and shall be designated as 50X2-WMD.

Reason: 1.4(h)
Declassify On: 50X2-WMD

NOTE: When 50X1-HUM and 50X2-WMD are used, a specific date or event for declassification of the information will not be used. Approval by the ISCAP is not required prior to agency use of 50X1-HUM or 50X2-WMD; however, it will need to be included in a classification guide with sufficient detail to enable effective use.

Section 2: Derivatively Classified Documents

Derivative classification is the act of incorporating, paraphrasing, restating, or generating in new form information that is already classified, and marking the newly developed material consistent with the markings of the source information. The source information ordinarily consists of a classified document or documents, or a classification guide issued by an original classification authority.

When using a classified source document as the basis for derivative classification, the markings on the source document determine the markings to be applied to the derivative document. When using a classification guide as the basis for derivative classification, the instructions provided by the guide are to be applied to the derivative document.

The following examples are of a properly marked source document and a properly marked derivative document, followed by the steps taken to create the derivative document.

Of the two declassification dates, 20151231 and 20290530, the date from source document 2 has the longest duration of classification and will be carried forward to the derivative document.

If the source documents contain multiple 25X markings, only one of the markings is required to be placed on the derivative document, as long as it is the one with the longest duration of classification. For example:

Document 2 – 25X5, 20320510

Document 3 – 25X4, 20301220

The marking from document 1 (25X3, 20350215) would be carried over to the derivative document and placed in the “Declassify On” line.

When determining the most restrictive declassification instruction among multiple source documents for placement in the “Declassify On” line, adhere to the following hierarchy:

1. “50X1-HUM” or “50X2-WMD” exemptions, or an approved exemption (“50X1” thru “50X9”) reflecting the ISCAP approval for classification beyond 50 years in accordance with section 3.3(h)(2) of the Order.
2. “25X1” through “25X9” exemptions, with a date or event.
3. A specific declassification date or event within 25 years.
4. Absent guidance from an original classification authority with jurisdiction over the information, a calculated 25-year date from the date of the source document.

Declassification Instructions on Derivatively Classified Documents:

Derivatively Classifying from a Classification Guide

A classification guide is a document issued by an OCA that provides derivative classification instructions. It describes the elements of information that must be protected, the reason for classification, and the level and duration of classification. The examples on the next page show how to apply instructions from the classification guide to a document.

This is a page from a sample guide.

Only an OCA with jurisdiction over the information may extend the duration of classification for up to 25 years from the date of the origin of the document. Any extension beyond 25 years from the date of the origin of the document requires ISCAP approval.

Reasonable attempts should be made to notify all holders of a classification extension. As appropriate, classification guides shall be updated to reflect such extensions.

Classification by Compilation

Section 1.7(e) of E.O. 13526 states that compilations of items of information that are individually unclassified may be classified if the compiled information reveals an additional association or relationship that: (1) meets the standards for classification under this order; and (2) is not otherwise revealed in the individual items of information. The Order also defines compilation as an aggregation of pre-existing unclassified items of information.

For the purpose of marking a document, this means that it may be possible to have a classified document in which all the individual portions are unclassified but because the compilation of the unclassified information reveals an association or relationship not otherwise evident when the portions are used individually, classification of the document and the application of required classification markings are warranted. In these cases, as required by 32 C.F.R. Part 2001.24(g), clear instructions must be provided as to the circumstances under which the individual portions constitute a classified compilation and when they do not.

Two additional crucial points to consider are: (1) as with all other markings, information must be marked in a uniform and conspicuous manner so as to leave no doubt as to the classified status of the information, the level of protection required, the reason for classification, and the duration of classification; and (2) access to or the sharing of unclassified information must not be impeded by unnecessarily or inappropriately applying classification where it's not warranted.

Examples of markings that may be applied to documents that are classified by compilation are on the next page.

Example 1

1. (U) This paragraph, when associated with paragraph 2, is classified SECRET.
2. (U) This paragraph, when associated with paragraph 1, is classified SECRET.

Classified By: John E. Doe, Chief Division 5
Reason: 1.4(a)
Declassify On: 20151231

Classified by compilation: The individual portions of this document are unclassified (and may be used, stored, transmitted, and shared as unclassified) except where otherwise noted within the body of the document.

SECRET

In the first example, guidance is embedded in the individual paragraphs explaining that when the first two paragraphs are associated with one another, the information they reveal is classified. However, note that individually the paragraphs are marked (U), which indicates that when this information stands alone and is not associated with the other paragraph, it is unclassified and may be treated as such. The explanation in bold at the bottom of the document is an example of how to indicate classification by compilation and provide additional guidance to intended recipients.

Example 2

2. (U) This paragraph contains the height of widget A.

4. (U) This paragraph contains the cost of widget A.

Classified By: John E. Doe, Chief Division 5
Reason: 1.4(a)
Declassify On: 20151231

Classified by compilation: The weight of widget A when combined with or used in association with the height of widget A, is classified Secret. In all other instances the individual portions or combinations of portions of this document are unclassified.

SECRET

In the second example, compilation guidance is explained on the bottom of the page, as shown here, or alternatively, is cited in an opening paragraph. Note, as in the first example, that individually the paragraphs are marked (U), which indicates that when this information is standing alone and not associated with the other paragraph, it is unclassified and may be treated as such.

Foreign Government Information

Some agencies may require that documents containing classified foreign government information be marked with:

“This document contains (country of origin) information.”

Mark the portions that contain the foreign government information to indicate the country of origin and the classification level. Substitute the words “Foreign Government Information” or “FGI” in instances in which the identity of the specific government must be concealed.

If the fact that information is foreign government information must be concealed, the markings described here shall not be used and the document shall be marked as if it were wholly of U.S. origin.

NOTE: These options are to be used only on complex slides where portion marking everything would be difficult and would detract from the information on the slide itself.

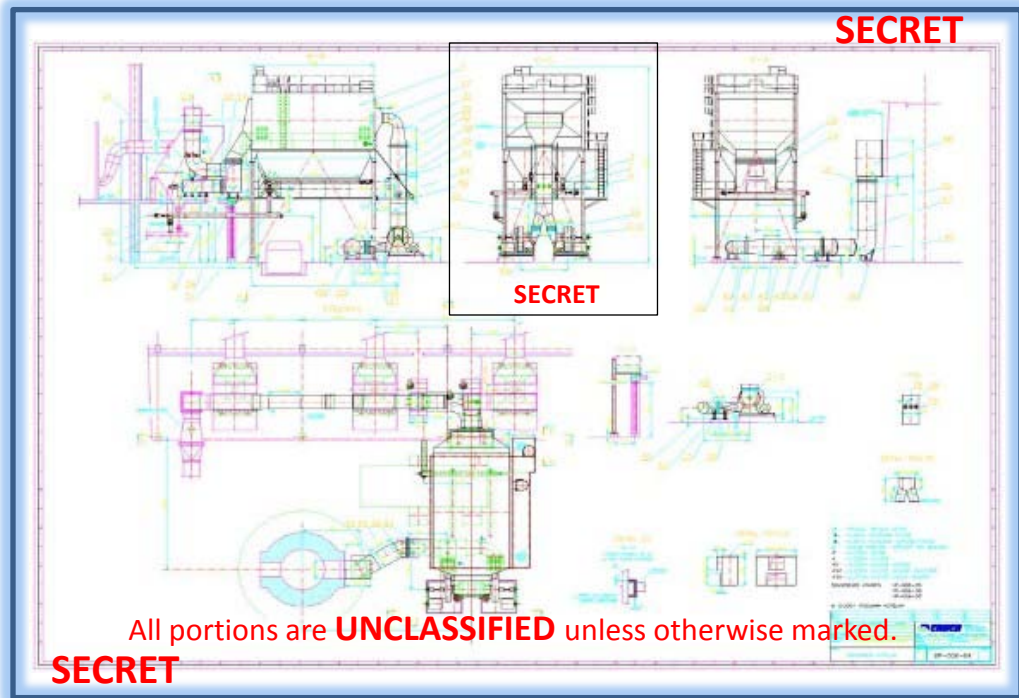

Option 1: When all portions are classified at the same level, mark the overall classification of the slide only; this annotates that everything on this diagram is classified at that level.

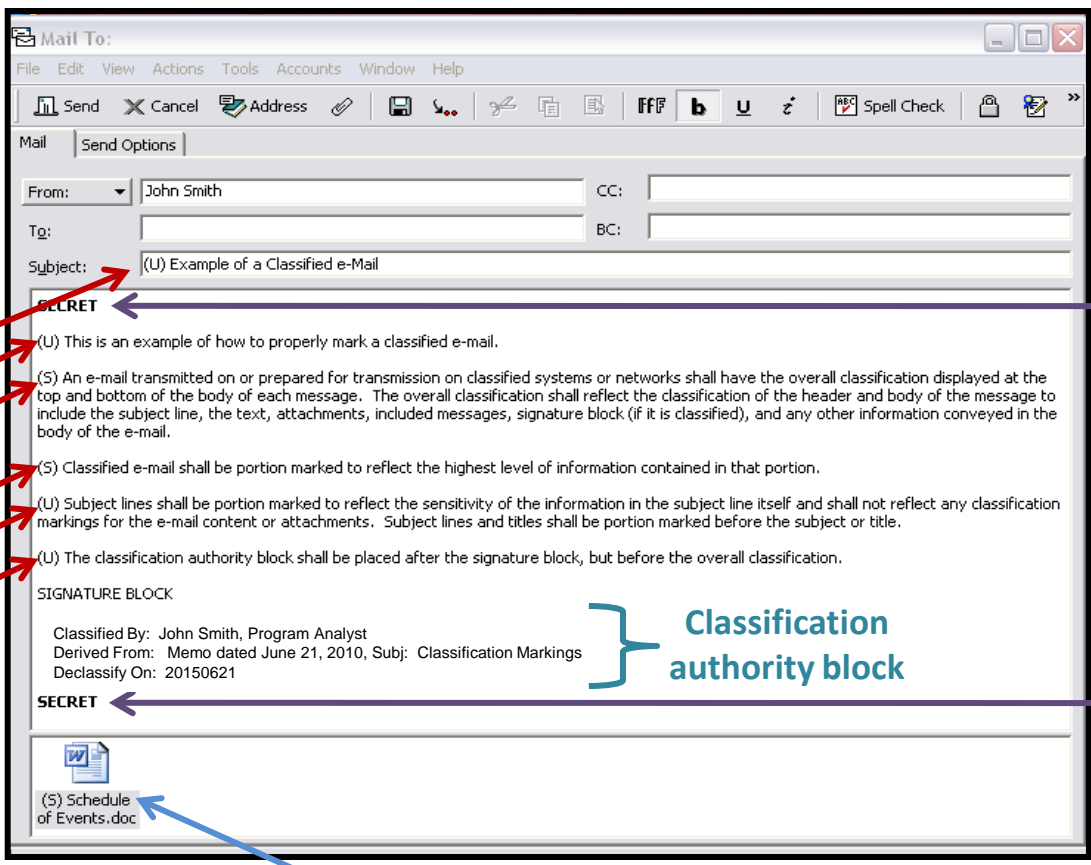

Option 2: When a majority of the portions are classified, mark the overall classification of the slide, indicate the classification of the majority of the portions, and portion mark the exceptions.
